

Send a "hole punch" of love

...You can be a Valentine to a NF Hero.
Over 2 million people in the world suffer from neurofibromatosis. NF is a genetic disorder that causes tumors to grow along the nerve endings of the body. The disorder attacks the body in three different ways: NF1, NF2 and Schwannomatosis.

The organization that I started working for in August, the Children's Tumor Foundation, raises money for NF research. We believe that research is the best way towards finding a cure. And because I am not a scientist (there was no love lost when I finished chemistry) I am running with the NF Endurance Team in the Georgia ING half marathon on March 29, 2009. My goal is to raise $3,000.

I would welcome your support in crossing the finish line and trying to find a cure. How?

Will you be my running Valentine?

...because learning disabilities, bone abnormalities, deafness, balance problems, decreased mobility and vision loss are nothing to love!
